JUDGES ASSIGNED FOR DIEHL CASE

Hearing On Removal of Stark County Jurist To Start June 20

(By Associated Press) CANTON, June 7.—Presiding Judge C. C. Sherrick of Ashland, and Judges C. C. Lemert of Zanesville and Charles W. Montgomery of Newark, comprising the judiciary of the 5th district court of appeals, will come to Canton June 20 to hear evidence in the action seeking removal from office of Common Pleas Judge Edwin W. Diehl of Alliance.

Taking of depositions in support of charges of malfeasance and misfeasance moved toward a conclusion today with five more attorneys to be questioned. Forty-nine witnesses, 46 of them lawyers practicing before Judge Diehl, have testified thus far.

L. B. McMillen, Canton attorney, who filed petitions signed by 1,400 persons asking the judge's removal, is conducting the interrogation. At least 12 of the 46 attorneys who had testified thus far admitted that they had loaned the judge money or signed his notes. Half of that number said they had been paid back in full.

Steps seeking the judge's removal were started shortly after the jurist filed a bankruptcy action in Cleveland federal court listing assets of $6,000 and liabilities of more than $20,000. Judge Diehl has four more years to serve. His salary is $10,000 a year. Recently his creditors approved a bankruptcy offer to pay monthly sums until his obligations are wiped out.

Attempt to Shoot
Premier at Athens;
Guard Is Killed

ATHENS, Greece, June 7.—An attempt on the life of Eleutherios Venizelos, who has been premier of Greece eight times since 1910, deeply stirred this little republic today.

The 69-year-old veteran statesman narrowly escaped death at the hands of a party of gunmen who fired from an automobile at the motorcade in which he and Mme. Venizelos were traveling from Amara to Athens late last night. The assassin's shots killed a personal guard accompanying the premier and struck Mme. Venizelos, who suffered four serious wounds in the lungs and stomach.

Her condition today was grave. The driver of the Venizelos machine was cut by glass from a broken car window. Otherwise unhurt, but in great pain, the chauffeur devotedly stayed at the wheel, and drove the travelers to their destination. The gunmen escaped.

Tower To Be Lowered and Present Structure Repaired

COMMITTEE PUTS EXPENSE AT $350

Plans Will Be Submitted To State Bureau for Approval

Plans for the rebuilding of the state-condemned city hall tower to permit the retention of the old town clock and bell were approved by members of city council Tuesday night.

Cost of the improvement, through which the tower's cone will be removed and the clock and bell lowered eight or 10 feet from their present height, was estimated by safety committee members at $350.

Plans Go to State Recommendations that the tower be rebuilt and remodeled were submitted to council by the safety committee, headed by C. F. Zimmerman, following surveys conducted at the municipal building by four Salem contractors. Council's plan will be submitted to the Ohio bureau of public building inspection for approval.

The state bureau, following inspections by Thomas Dickson, Columbus, and Fire Chief Vincent L. Malloy, ordered the tower to be removed or improved within 90 days, declaring the structure a hazard to passersby. Under the state order the city had until Friday to begin work on the project.

Work, however, must be delayed until the state department inspects council's improvement plans. Funds for the project were immediately appropriated through passage by council of an ordinance transferring $350 from the sidewalk repair fund to the public building repair fund.

Should the state approve the plan recommended by councilmen, bids will be asked immediately, the contract awarded and work started as soon as possible, Zimmerman announced.

Read Salary Ordinance

An ordinance fixing new salaries for elective offices was given its second reading, no action being taken towards its passage under suspension of rules.

SMITH RESIGNS
FROM COUNCIL

Successor Scheduled To Be Appointed At Next Meeting

D. W. Smith, councilman-at-large, submitted his resignation to city council at the meeting in city hall Tuesday night.

The resignation was accepted by fellow-members of the body who plan to appoint his successor at the next meeting, scheduled on Tuesday, June 20.

Press of business which did not permit him to devote what he considered sufficient time to councilmanic duties was advanced by Smith as his reason for resigning.

Smith has been a member of council for three years, serving part of the unexpired term of John C. Litty, now county treasurer. He was elected to the position in November, 1931.

He had also served on council for two terms about 10 years ago.

Attend Mahoning
Presbytery Meet

Rev. R. D. Walter, C. A. Haviland and D. A. Smith of Salem attended a meeting of the Mahoning Presbytery Tuesday at the New Waterford Presbyterian church. Haviland and Smith were delegates from the local church.

James Donald, member of the Warren church, who is a senior at the Presbyterian seminary at Chicago, was licensed to preach by the presbytery.

Rev. Stephen Palmer, of Youngstown, served as moderator, taking the place of Moderator Rev. J. B. Stephens, Alliance, who is at Maryville, Tenn., where he will receive his degree of doctor of divinity at Maryville college.

Rev. Stephens is well known in Salem.

Prays for Jimmy

Although the world felt apprehensive for the safety of Jimmy Mattern, round-the-world flyer, after he had been unreported for 49 hours from his take-off at New York, his mother, Mrs. Caroline Mattern, retained confidence in his ability, refusing to believe he was lost. The aged woman is shown in her garden at San Angelo, Texas.

MATTERN SEEN
OVER SIBERIA

Novo, Sibirsk Catches Glimpse of 'round the Globe Flier

(By Associated Press) MOSCOW, June 7.—Fifteen hours after he had passed Novo Sibirsk, Jimmie Mattern, American round-the-world flier, was unreported today so far as Moscow knew. But unless he had encountered difficulties with his plane he should have reached Chita, Siberia, the next stop on his schedule.

Delays in communication, which increased the further eastward the flier progressed, left Moscow without word of his whereabouts.

NOVO, SIBIRSK, Siberia, June 7.—Jimmie Mattern was sighted here at 4:10 a. m. today, Moscow time (8:10 p. m. in Salem). He was flying high and fast toward Chita, Siberia, his destination in the fifth leg of his round-the-world flight.

This town is about 400 miles due east of Omsk, Siberia, from where he hopped off at 1:10 a. m. Moscow time (3:10 p. m. in Salem). His average speed was close to 130 miles an hour.

Chita is about 1,300 miles east of Novo Sibirsk. Mattern landed at Omsk just 54 minutes ahead of the Post and Gatty time, but in bringing his gaily colored machine to earth, a wing strut broke, necessitating a delay for repairs.

He made good use of the time, however, for he spent a few hours in refreshing sleep, sorely lacking in his record-breaking trans-Atlantic hop to Jomfrulund island, a short leg of Oslo, Norway, and two succeeding hops to Moscow and Omsk. He made the 1,450-mile Moscow-Omsk jaunt in 12 hours and 21 minutes, at an average of about 120 miles an hour.

Lisbon Postoffice
Fixtures "On Sale"

LISBON, June 7.—There was no sale when Sheriff Frank Ballantine offered for sale at the postoffice here a half interest in the postoffice fixtures, upon which an execution had been levied to satisfy a judgment for $519.73 and costs taken by the Andalusian Dairy Co. of Salem against E. H. McIntosh.

This is the first time postoffice fixtures were ever offered for sale in this county and attorneys not interested in the sale wondered how the interest could be set up in the event some did offer a bid. Fixtures listed for sale by the sheriff included everything in the postoffice except property owned by the government.

CLEVELAND, June 7.—Liquidation of collateral of Continental Shares, Inc., "at the present time is untimely and precipitate," said a statement issued by officers of the company.

The Chase National Bank of New York which made a loan to Continental, recently announced that a large amount of the concern's collateral would be auctioned next Monday.

Noted Philadelphian Dies After Illness Of More Than Year

STARTED CAREER
ON THREE PENNIES

Gave Millions In Philanthropies During His Lifetime

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—Cyrus H. Curtis, noted publisher and philanthropist, who began his career as a newsboy, died today at his home in suburban Wynote after an illness of more than a year. He would have been 83 on June 18.

Death came to him at 1:10 a. m., climaxing a fight he had waged since last Friday, the day his condition became critical.

With him at the last were only his daughter, Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok, and other members of his family.

Stricken Last Year

One of the world's foremost publishers, Mr. Curtis was stricken with a heart attack in May last year while on his yacht near New York. He was brought to a hospital here.

His wife took a room in the same institution to be near him. She died five days later from a heart ailment.

Funeral services are to be held at Mr. Curtis' home Friday and burial will be in West Laurel Hill cemetery here. Friends were requested not to send flowers.

With a capital of three cents, Curtis started his business career as a newsboy at the age of 12. His subsequent success, an epic of American business, brought him to the chairmanship of the board of the Curtis Publishing company which publishes the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies' Home Journal and the Country Gentleman.

He was at one time president of the Curtis-Martin newspapers, Inc., which publishes the Philadelphia Public Ledger and Evening Ledger, and the New York Evening Post, and owns the Philadelphia Inquirer company which publishes the Inquirer.

Noted for his philanthropies, Mr. Curtis was a devout believer in the homely axiom, "Heaven helps those who help themselves."

Their appointments were effective today.

Training Planned
For Scout Leaders

A training course for scout leaders in camping will open on Friday morning. It will be held at the East Palestine Scout cabin located near the Negley-Rogers road on the Fred Reese farm.

The men will set up their tents, build fire places, refrigerators, tables, beds, and make themselves comfortable for a three-day camp. Scoutmasters will be trained to conduct week-end camps for troops so that all Scouts may have an opportunity to live for a time in the woods. Camp cooking, nature study, hiking, camp fire programs will be features of the program.

Forty-five leaders from every town in the council are registered for the course. It will be under the direction of County Executive Chas. E. Felton. Other instructors will be Earl S. Kerr of Salem, Wilbur S. Melinger of Letonia, Russell Stratton Jr. of Salem, Franklin B. Drake of Lisbon and B. G. Ludwig of East Liverpool. Four of the instructors recently completed a similar course under the National Scout Council which was held at Cleveland.

Child Ill, Parents Unable To Give It Proper Care, Claim

HUSBAND DIDN'T KNOW OF THEFT

"Kidnapers" Wanted To Give It Proper Attention, She Says

(By Associated Press) CINCINNATI, June 7.—Mrs. Virginia Rodgers, mother of two children, told police in the presence of newspapermen today that she took the six-week-old baby of Mrs. Madeleine Sneed from its mother a week ago.

The baby was ill, she said, and she took it so that it might be given care it could not receive in the squalid river-front home in which its young parents lived.

Baby Is Identified

A baby identified as the missing Pansy Sneed was found in the woman's third floor apartment in Woodmen, downtown Cincinnati. Mrs. Rodgers at first insisted the child was her own born to her at the home of a sister in Richmond, Ind. She changed her story when confronted by neighbors who had told police the woman had told them the baby was born in the office of a Cincinnati doctor, and that Mrs. Rodgers returned home with it last Wednesday, the day the Sneed baby disappeared.

Mrs. Rodgers is the wife of Eugene Rodgers, a city welfare department employee. It was through her husband she heard of the ailing baby and its young, poverty-stricken parents.

The baby was taken from its mother by a woman posing as a nurse, on the pretense it required hospital treatment.

Officials said their attention was directed to the baby at the Rodgers home when they learned it was suffering from an infection such as that afflicting the missing baby.

Wanted To Help

"They were in hard circumstances and couldn't do for the baby as they should," Mrs. Rodgers said, "and I thought I could do better."

"After I got it all fixed up it was just as nice as anybody's baby," she went on. "I took just as good care of it as any mother could, because I did love it."

But her husband, she said, knew nothing of her taking another's child. She had told him some time before she was going to have a child, she said, adding "he believed it."

Shontz, council, Henry Gibson, John Arnold, Orville Gaver, Glenn Davis, Frances Morrissey, Arthur Kirkbride, Edward Casey, Jr., Arthur W. Ripley, board of public affairs, M. E. Sullivan, Carl H. Railroad Brothers Started On Million

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 7.—One million dollars was all that O. P. Van Sweringen, his brother and associates originally put into acquiring railroad interests which now have expanded to some of the most vast in the country.

This fact was divulged by O. P. Van Sweringen in resuming testimony in the Senate investigation of the part played by J. P. Morgan & company in building up the extensive Van Sweringen rail domain.

He had been asked about the amount yesterday by Ferdinand Pecora, as counsel for the senate committee, and said he could not then comply.

Reformation

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 7.—Attorney Pecora is liable to have to do like Roosevelt, go on the radio and tell his troubles. That old radio is the greatest club ever invented for quick appeal. It's worth 50 votes, Pecora can make those senators say "uncle" for him, if he tells it to the people.

This is a great country. You never know where our heroes will come from. This Mattern was a trap drummer in a jazz orchestra. That, I think, is the greatest reformation in history.

Yours,

Will Rogers

STILL WAITING

While the legislature proceeds in devious ways to finish the business before it, Ohio taxpayers are still waiting for conclusive evidence of the necessity for heavier taxes. They have heard Governor White and most of the legislators who have access to the public ear say that the necessity exists. They also have heard from other sources that it doesn't exist. Their caution warns them to be suspicious. After all, it is taxpayers who are going to pay through the nose if someone makes a mistake.A survey of the states shows that in 45 of them legislatures have met this year. In 39 of the 45 taxes have been increased. Only six actually reduced the cost of government to the people. Ohio is one of two dozen states which have taxed beer to the limit; present indications point to the probability that when its legislature finally adjourns it will have gone the limit with a new tax on income and a new tax on retail sales besides. It will yield first place to no other state in exercise of its taxing power.Unless taxpayers can be convinced beyond reasonable doubt that these taxes must be imposed, however, there will be trouble encountered in administering them. It is obviously impossible to make any tax popular, but it is wholly possible to prove the necessity of enacting tax laws which, by necessity, may irritate the people deeply. This is one of the things Governor White should try to do with more conviction than he has demonstrated in his previous attempts.This fact should be plain to every lawmaker in Columbus: Ohio is indignantly opposed to further taxation. No matter for what reason imposed, new taxes will arouse universal and angry protest, because the people are convinced that they do not have the resources with which to meet them. It is not a question of getting money the easiest way but of getting it at all. If the suspicion that no new taxes are needed is allowed to persist after new taxes are levied, Ohio will find itself in hot water. If an income and a sales tax are imperative it should be a comparatively easy manner for the administration to demonstrate the fact to the people. It will not make new taxes any less unpopular, but it might make them collectible.

BUSINESS, THE NEW WAY

Announcement of a $50,000,000 loan to the Nationalist government of China, to be used for purchase of American cotton and wheat, is expected to lighten certain burdens of worry carried on American backs. In the words of Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., the agency through which taxpayers made the loan, "this credit will be mutually advantageous, as it will assist to remove surpluses from the American markets and will increase China's consumption of these commodities and stimulate economic activity in China and tend to contribute to world-wide economic recovery." The tone of the chairman's optimism indicates that he could go on in a recitation of advantages indefinitely.But is it possible that some of them may be illusory? Galled by his burdens, even an ordinary taxpayer might think of such things as these:
How will the credit be paid back?
Will it be in the form of goods
which would threaten American labor, or will it be in the form of money, which is a risky proposition under existing conditions?What guarantee does the R. F. C.
Is the Nationalist government of China a good risk? Is it a better risk than certain European governments, far better established, which frankly are preparing to default on their debt payments?Answers to these questions are not any too comforting. In fact,
they leave so much to be desired

blocks northward, too, the Caledo-of O. Henry and I believe at various times Harris Merton Lyon, Samuel Bytles, Willa Cather and Bill New

be as sentimental about its artists as, say Paris, the block would be called Place O. Henry. But Tam-men are chewing tobacco and side-burns and both are going out."All of a sudden the talented Rita Weiman joined the distigee ladies with a powdered splotch of grey in jet-black hair. The white crest, flung high, followed a long illness from which she has fully recovered."You like cheese and ginger snap for breakfast," writes E. S. "Now assist to remove surpluses from the American markets and will increase

China's consumption of these commodities and stimulate economic activity in China and tend to contribute to world-wide economic recovery." The tone of the chairman's optimism indicates that he could go on in a recitation of advantages indefinitely.But is it possible that some of them may be illusory? Galled by his burdens, even an ordinary taxpayer
might think of such things as these:
How will the credit be paid back?
Will it be in the form of goods
which would threaten American labor, or will it be in the form of money, which is a risky proposition
under existing conditions?What guarantee does the R. F. C.
Is the Nationalist government of China a good risk? Is it a better
risk than certain European governments, far better established, which frankly are preparing to default on their debt payments?Answers to these questions are not any too comforting. In fact,
they leave so much to be desired

What Others Say

NOTHING SIGNIFICANT

There is nothing significant, so we are told at Washington, in keeping almost the whole of the American fleet in the Pacific and now hear from Japan that there is "Nothing significant" in the fact that the grand maneuvers of the Japanese navy will be held this year, not in the Japan sea, where they have usually been held, but "somewhere in the south of Japan."The Japan naval authorities say the restricted era between Japan and the mainland is not large enough for the fleet as it is now constituted to engage in "battle practice," although in the past it has been.In the meantime the administration at Washington plans to at once reduce the number of enlisted men in the navy to 10,000, adding them to the army of the unemployed. In order to save the relatively insignificant sum of $12,000,000. Also to be relieved from duty will be 1,000 naval officers and 150 marine corps officers. The comparatively small sum to be saved by this action is as nothing when compared to the great harm the morale of the navy will suffer by this action.Will Rogers says that whenever the United States begins to reduce its defense forces it is time to look out for war. We have never yet been prepared for war and probably never will be. It must make the folks on the Pacific coast feel very happy when they learn that the Japanese fleet is engaged in battle practice in waters where it would maneuver if actual war existed and the Pacific coast was the chief objective.—Por-land (Me.) Press-Herald.

THE CHALLENGE OF LOVE

by WARWICK DEEPIING

CHAPTER FIFTY-SIX

Wolfe stood by the window while Josiah Crabbe went to and fro like an old black panther in a cage.

"The Guardians have selected me for medical officer."

"Yes, you had your foot on Navestock's neck, and you must go and play this fool's game, hanging on to a child's eyelashes, and setting the whole town against you. Good heaven, you ought to know what human nature is! Slapping the people in the face! Do you wonder they turn rusty? Yes, the Guardians elected you; but what is there to prevent them turning you out again? It's in their power. Jasper Turrell knows that. He's working for it. They'll get young Baggeley in, and he and old Threadgold will be cocks of the walk."

"Mr. Crabbe, I owe you nearly everything here, and I have not forgotten it. But I hold aloof here, for my pride and my sincerity. What I did for Navestock still stands. These people are in a dudgeon, because I chose to save a life that was dearer to them than anything else on earth. I will not hurry back to conciliate them. Robert Flemming has my promise that I shall return to Navestock the day after tomorrow. But I will not doek myself of a single day."

Misty tranquility possessed the landscape when John Wolfe passed out of the Moor Farm gate and took the road to Navestock. It was about eleven in the morning, and he knew that the Navestock Guardians were to meet at the same hour.

Wolfe had not been ten minutes in Navestock before he realized that people were in no hurry to welcome him. Moreover, the town seemed to have some joke against him, maugre its provincial dignity. He caught loafers nudging each other, and grinning. A boy shouted something after him, but Wolfe did not catch the words.

He was crossing the marketplace when a gig drawn by a high-stepping grey horse came rattling out of King Street. The whirling yellow wheels were the wheels of Jasper Turrell's gig, and it was Jasper Turrell who drove it. He had beside him a sallow young man with a neat profile — Mr. Harold Baggeley, Threadgold's new partner.

Turrell caught sight of Wolfe and prodded young Baggeley with his whipstock. The two men in the gig stared at the man on foot. Wolfe guessed what had happened from the look in Turrell's eyes. The yellow-wheeled gig was a car of triumph. Turrell was carrying his candidate victoriously through the town.

Wolfe stiffened up and went on. He carried his head a trifle higher, and ceased to look into the faces of the people whom he passed. A hundred yards down King Street he caught sight of the big black figure of Robert Flemming coming along the red-brick footway. Flemming was alone, and walked with his great chest expanded, his fine head held haughtily.

The two men met and gripped hands. "I have just come from the board meeting."

"It's all right, sir, you need not tell me the news. I have seen Turrell. That was sufficient."

His voice had a dry and grim restraint.

"You know, Wolfe, I warned you that this might happen."

"Yes, but I was simple enough to believe that good work counted. Was it the town's dignity that took offense?"

Flemming's frank eyes had a glint of generous anger.

"It served as an excuse to men who were easily persuaded to recant when a clever friend showed them a cheaper method of reform. Your behaviour has been imprudent, and absolutely lacking in a proper sense of responsibility. They have cancelled your appointment and elected young Baggeley."

Wolfe walked on alone in the direction of Peachy Hill. Now that the truth had come to him he was amazed, both at his own confidence of an hour ago and at the fickleness of the town had shown.

The first thing that he saw when he reached the white house at Eye's Corner was his brass plate plastered over with tar. The amazing littleness of the town so struck him that he stared at the gate and laughed. On passing into the garden he noticed that three panes of glass were broken in one of the lower windows, and that the green door was smeared with something that looked like the slime of rotten eggs. The brass knocker had been wrenched off and thrown into one of the flower beds.

The front door was locked, and since the bell-wire appeared to be broken, Wolfe had to hammer with his fists where the shatterings of egg-shells remained glued to the paint. Footsteps came down the passage, and a voice called to him through the door.

"Who it is?"

"It's all right Mrs. Loosely."

Recognizing his voice, she opened the door.

Her pale eyes looked at Wolfe with frank displeasure. Her thin, lined face was resentful and offended.

"I left all the things for you to see them yourself, sir. Never did I think that the town roughs would come up here and break my windows. Look at my door, Dr. Wolfe. I left the knocker just where they threw it."

Wolfe glanced at the brass thing lying half sunk in the soil. The woman's face was denunciatory, griefed. She had been hoarding up hours of indignation, and now that the chance had come for self-expression, her thin lips excitedly squandered all that she had hoarded.

"I never dreamed that you would put me in such a position, Dr. Wolfe. It was bitterly unkind of you. For months I've put myself out to suit you—me being a quiet woman, with the knocker going about once a week. I tell you, sir, I was near driven out of my senses—people pestering and fussing and scolding. The goings-on I've had to put up with—my girl going into hysterics, and leaving me without notice. I never should have thought you could have been so unkind."

Wolfe looked at her with a kind of grave pity.

"How could I tell, Mrs. Loosely, that these people would behave in this way? The thing never entered my head. I am sorry."

"You ought to be sorry, sir, indeed, you ought to."

"Of course I'll pay for any damage that has been done. Can you give me anything in the way of dinner, or shall I go down to 'The Crooked Billet'?"

She looked flustered and alarmed. "I can't take you back here, Dr. Wolfe. I can't sir, really. I'd never know what might happen. I must ask you to take rooms somewhere else. They're savages, real savages in Navestock. I'm a quiet woman, sir."

"Of course, I don't want to make any more trouble for you up here. I am going down to see Mr. Crabbe, and then I'll come back and arrange to have my things packed. I suppose Mr. Ragge's man has been looking after Turpin?"

"Yes, sir. I do think it a shame, sir, the way they have been going on about you."

"All I can say is, Mrs. Loosely, I am wiser than I was yesterday."

He passed out by the green gates, glancing with whimsical grimness at the deserted plate.

Wolfe had his hand on Josiah Crabbe's bell-handle before it occurred to him to wonder whether Josiah Crabbe had heard the news of Mr. Harold Baggeley's election. What would the old man make of it? Pat his own cynical foresight on the shoulder, or let loose a quiet yet furious flood of words?

One leaf of the iron gate swung back, and Wolfe saw Adam Grinch standing there.

"Is Mr. Crabbe in, Adam?"

"Yes, sir; but I'm sorry, sir, you can't see him."

The man's bronzed and powerful face betrayed intense dissatisfaction.

"It's Mr. Crabbe's way, sir. I never argues with him, and he never argues with me. We've grown up like that together. If we'd argue, we'd quarrel."

"You mean that Mr. Crabbe won't see me?"

"That's so, sir."

"He has heard the news?"

"Half an hour ago. I brought it him. Mr. Crabbe gave me my orders, and a letter as I was to give you if you came."

He took a letter out of his jacket pocket, and handed it to Wolfe.

He opened Josiah Crabbe's letter, and found it curt and to the point.

"John Wolfe, we have done with each other. It's better for both of us that I should keep my gate shut in your face."

"You turned soft when you should have kept hard. I can't forgive you that."

Wolfe crumpled the letter into his pocket.

"Tell Mr. Crabbe, Adam, that I'm sorry. He has been a good friend to me. I am feeling what he feels."

He held out a hand to Grinch.

Wolfe heard the iron gate clang behind him as he walked away under the shade of the high stone wall.

Grinch entered the house, and found his master in the dining-room, sitting before the fire. The black eyes in the colourless face were cynical and expectant. The red handkerchief lay over one knee.

"Well, Adam?"

"It was Mr. Wolfe, sir."

"You gave him my letter?"

"He read it at the gate."

"What did he say, Adam?"

"He said, Tell Mr. Crabbe that I'm sorry. He has been a good friend to me. I am feeling what he feels."

"Ah!"

Josiah Crabbe sat forward, staring at the fire. The fingers of his right hand had groped for his snuff-box.

"Mr. Wolfe is not the man to whine, sir."

"He didn't fly out at me."

"Not a word."

Josiah Crabbe took snuff.

"Drat the man, he can be hard enough when it's too late. I know—he'll have a face like a bit of granite. I've done with him, though—I've done with him. If that child of a girl had only died before they got him up to the farm that night."

"That's a bad thought, Mr. Crabbe."

"Bad! Darn you, Adam. Grinch, what do you know about it? It has roused the devil in me to see a man like that turned to a sop. There, I've done with him. And he didn't whine?"

"Maybe he's got a pride that's as good as yours, sir."

"Be darned to him—I hope he has."

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Diabetes Not Cured by Insulin

A recent report of the department of health, New York city, shows an increase in the total number of deaths from diabetes during 1932. This report is similar to those relating to other parts of the country. A careful study of available statistics shows an increase rather than a decrease in the number of cases of diabetes.

Many explanations have been offered for this increase. Undoubtedly it is founded on many factors. I believe that in many instances the fault lies in the common belief that diabetes is not a serious disease and that it can be easily cured with insulin.

May I warn all my readers against this misbelief. There is no medicine known to medical science that will cure diabetes. Insulin only controls the disease.

Another common pitfall is that many diabetics are careless about their eating. They assume that since they are taking insulin they can eat foods that would otherwise be prohibited from the diet. This is dangerous and too often leads to serious complications.

Follow Instructions I cannot over-emphasize the importance of accepting diabetes as a serious menace to health and happiness. Only when the disorder is recognized as a serious one and the proper diet and precautions are taken, will the number of deaths due to diabetes decrease. Bear in mind that when diabetes is properly treated, the afflicted individual may continue with his daily work and live to a hearty and enjoyable old age.

To all sufferers from diabetes I would first advise that they carefully follow the instructions given to them by their physicians.

Avoid any tendency towards constipation. Daily bathing, frequent cleansing of the teeth and washing of the hands, and avoiding colds, infections and boils, are imperative.

If you are tired and do not feel well call your physician. Do not delay. A good plan, while waiting for him, is to go to bed, keep warm, take an enema and drink plenty of water. This may prevent an attack of coma, so dangerous to the diabetic.

Never miss a meal while you are taking insulin. This may lead to insulin "shock." Pallor, nervousness, hunger, sweats and trembling are early signs of insulin "shock." If these signs are present get in touch with your physician immediately. In the meantime take some carbohydrate food, such as sugar, orange juice or corn syrup.

The Stars Say:

For Thursday, June 8, a day of "mixed influences," according to the astrologers, is pre-geared from the dominant lunar and mutual transits. There is a splendid sign of fresh opportunities and new interests, with radical change in surroundings and associates, but these call for sagacious handling and calm decisions. Difficulties in employment, dangers in finances, and cross-purposes incited by rash and impetuous words and acts may menace.

These whose birthday it is may be prepared for important new opportunities during the year, with possible change of environment, interests and associates. This may follow difficulties in employment, but there are many cross-purposes to be encountered, best handled by restraint in act and speech.

A child born on this day may be aggressive, adventurous, ingenious, original and independent. It may attain public position.

There are 600,000 more people driving Buicks than the next most popular car in Buick's price range.

Every state in the Union purchases more Buicks than any other automobile priced above $1,000.*

Five times as many people buy Buicks as any other car priced above $1,000—sixes, eights, twelves or sixteens.*

Every city with a population of 125,000 or over buys more Buicks than any other car priced above $1,000.*

*Figures taken from Polk's National New Car Sales Service

Buick wishes to thank the men and women whose demand for Buick cars has made possible this great sales leadership. Such popularity can mean only one thing: People are convinced that Buick gives more and better miles. You and your family will also find Buick the ideal car. A single drive will prove that it gives better miles—and the records show that many Buicks serve dependably for 200,000 miles and more. That's reliability—and economy, too. PARFAITS LEND FESTIVE TOUCH Parfaits lend a distinction to any meal, the simplest Sunday night supper becomes a banquet when this elaborate dish is served, elaborate in appearance this is, but not elaborate in preparation, especially if we have mechanical refrigeration. Parfaits can be prepared in the morning and served later in the day or evening.

We all have our favorites, the yellow parfaits made from the yolks of eggs, the Italian creams, made from the egg whites. Whipped cream is folded in to give fluffiness and smoothness, and all the parfait family is a variation of these classifications. One can do all sorts of culinary tricks with parfaits, transforming the yellow one into a delicate Blauz Tortoni with a crusty brown top and the time flavor given by macaroons.

The white parfait served with a different dessert from the same pasteurized of candied violets is a variety to which chocolate sauce has been added. And above all, the parfait is a healthful dessert, with its eggs and cream. So let's get on to some new and delicious parfaits for your summer parties.

White and Yellow Parfaits

To make the white parfait, boil one-half cup sugar and one-quarter cup water together to form a syrup that spins a thread when dropped from the tip of a spoon. Pour syrup into three stiffly beaten egg whites, beating constantly. Continue beating till egg mixture is cold. Soften one teaspoon gelatin in two tablespoons cold water, melt by beating over boiling water, cool and fold in egg white mixture. Fold in three-quarters cup whipping cream, well whipped and one teaspoon vanilla. Place in ice box at once and freeze. Serve in tall parfait glasses, a layer of white parfait, a layer of chocolate sauce, alternating the layers and topping off with a little parfait sprinkled with candied rose petals.

To make the yellow parfait, again boil water and sugar together to form a syrup, the same amounts and method as for the white foundation. Beat well three egg yolks, add syrup slowly, beating eggs during addition. Cook for five minutes in double boiler. Remove from fire. Beat well. Cool. Fold in one cup whipping cream, well whipped, and one teaspoon vanilla. Place in refrigerator and freeze.

COLUMBIANA

Frank Stewart, Youngstown, a representative of the Ohio Association for Tax Reduction, was the speaker at the meeting of the Columbiana Rotary club Monday evening. He told of three proposals that the organization expects to bring to a vote of the people of Ohio within the next year. Petitions for placing these items on the ballot are now being circulated throughout the state.

The Three Proposals

The first is a proposal to have all autos carry permanent license plates, instead of renewing them each year. Another is to levy a tax of $250 on each chain store in the state. He said that 19 states already have a similar law. The third proposal is to relieve the burden of real estate taxation, placing more on income. As it is now, 35 per cent of the wealth pays 85 per cent of the income. According to statistics Mr. Stewart quoted, 25 per cent of the people of Ohio pay all the taxes.

The league would create a tax of one-half of one per cent at the source. He also told of the state highway patrol law passed recently, saying that his organization is opposed to it, as it will create many industries, besides costing $10,000,000 annually. At the close of his remarks he answered a number of questions of his hearers. The signatures of 161,000 voters on a petition are required to place any measure on the ballot.

He was accompanied to Columbiana by Albert Cooper, a former Marion county commissioner. Atty. G. Oakes was also a visitor.

The weekly meeting of the Columbiana Kiwanis club was held Monday evening in the Christian church with 40 members present.

Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, pastor of the Sebring Presbyterian church, was the guest speaker, using as his subject "Friendship." He gave a humorous talk, saying there were four ous necessary for ideal friendship: Love, sense of humor, sense of sacrifice, and sense of service.

Other guests present from Sebring were Sumner Oesch and Ernest Humbley. Walter Crawford was a local guest. The Kiwanis orchestra gave a musical program. Next week's meeting will be in the form of a picnic at Mill-pie park and will be held Wednesday afternoon and evening June 14.

School Board Meets

The monthly meeting of the Columbiana board of education was held Monday evening with all members present. The report of the annual school enumeration, taken by Miss Sarah Detweiler, shows a total of 615 children between the ages of 5 and 17, and exceeds last year's figures by 26. It is the largest in the history of the school district.

The registration shows 314 males and 301 females. The age limit for entrance to the first grade next fall is set. All children whose sixth birthday occurs prior to November 1 will be admitted at the opening of school. This date is the same as observed last year. The report of apt. Bender for the final two weeks of school shows an average attendance of 97.67 per cent in the grades and of 97.32 in high school.

WHO WILL PAY
125 MILES AN HOUR
FISH AND SPIDERS

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1933 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THIS COUNTRY wisely proposes to spend $3,000,000,000 to relieve unemployment. Will the government borrow the money from lenders, paying 4 per cent interest, which would add $120,000,000 a year to the taxpayers' burdens?

Why must the government borrow that money, slowly retiring the bonds, when it could print perfectly good money, as good as its own bonds, with the same guarantee, and retire the currency as it would retire the bonds?

At the end of 20 years, if bonds were issued at 4 per cent for have to pay in interest, compounded $3,000,000,000, taxpayers would have to pay in interest, compounded every six months, a total sum of more than six billions, twice the sum borrowed.

Could you imagine any better saving than paying for $3,000,000,000 worth of work with nice new money, retiring the money, and saving in interest for taxpayers the gigantic sum of $6,000,000,000.

FRANCE on a government-owned railway, has successfully tested a double-decked rail car at 125 miles an hour. Its 800-horsepower engine using "benzol or alcohol" carries 80 passengers one mile on a third of a gallon.

W. A. Harriman of the Union Pacific is building a "catapult" that it is hoped, will do as well.

The day of the car weighing 180,000 pounds and carrying 4,000 pounds of passengers, at 40 or 50 miles an hour, will soon be over. And railroads, thanks to their immensely valuable rights of way, will be more profitable than they ever were.

VIOLENTLY interesting is the queer, deep-sea fish-husband that spends its life clinging to its huge mate. If it lets go, the practical wife eats it, and lives a widow until another husband attaches itself to her when she is not looking.

This deep sea fish, called photocorynus spiniceps, is more pathetic than the husband of the deep sea parasite crab, 50 times smaller than its wife, living under one of her flippers.

The wife of spiniceps, possessing a phosphorescent glow, attracts many would-be husbands, and devours nine out of 10, as they approach.

When one slips by the wife's wide mouth, it fastens, with its sharp teeth, on to some part of the body, lives on her blood, which she does not miss, and they begin housekeeping.

NEW YORK natural history museum will soon show one of these strange couples, from the Atlantic and Caribbean deep waters, the husband hanging on, just above the wife's eye.

Mother nature determined to perpetuate every species, manages it somehow. The female spider, many times as big as her mate, devours him, when he approaches with the best of intentions, unless he is very cautious.

Nimble, jumping backward and forward, as Fabre tells you, he studies the fat creature that awaits him. Woe unto him, if he comes too close, when her mind is on lunch-con, not on matrimony.

"ALL alone", James Mattern, of Texas, continuing his flight around the world, reached Omsk in Siberia, having flown from Moscow, 1400 miles, in 12 hours, 21 minutes, without stopping.

This record he made in spite of strong head winds. It has taken him 73 hours and 15 minutes to fly from Long Island, across the Atlantic ocean, over Europe and Russia, and on to Omsk, Siberia. Alone at the controls he has beaten all records, thus far. When does he sleep?

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo.—Clarence Twyman hooked a seven-pound Buffalo fish at Sunshine Lake, near here, and after a 10-minute struggle pulled it into his boat. Mrs. Twyman was at the oars, and in order to keep the struggling fish in the boat, Twyman had to sit on it until the boat was docked.

SOME FOLKS have never thought of it just this way, but half of all Sohio petroleum products marketed in this community are sold through independently owned service stations.

The confidence of these independent merchants is one of the most valuable assets an oil company can have. As owners of their own businesses, these men are free to stock their tanks with any of scores of petroleum brands.

We are proud that 231 key oil-dealers of this community have staked the welfare of their businesses on the name SOHIO. It is a testimonial of the strongest, sincerest sort. We have repaid them by making Sohio products the most popular motor oils and gasolines in the State, and good enough to stay that way!

As a motorist, you also face a confusing array of gasolines and motor oils, and prices and claims which are contradictory. For values guaranteed to be "standard," we refer you to any of these recognized business men of your community; to any of the thousands of agents and dealers over the State who have joined hands with us in the sale of Sohio products.

BALLOTING among the nation's fans to determine the lineups of the two all-star teams from the National and American leagues which will meet at Coney Island, N. Y., July 6, develops the closest competition for the shortstop berth on the National league club and the catcher's job on the American league team.

Dick Bartell of the Phillies, and Floyd Vaughan of the Pirates are waging the nip and tuck battle for the shortstop position on the National league club. Bartell seems likely to get the honor because of his superior hitting and experience. Leo Durocher of the Cardinals is undoubtedly the best fielding shortstop in either league, but his weak hitting has prevented him from receiving many votes.

Bill Dickey of the Yankees and Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics are the two leaders among the American league catchers. Cochrane was considered the peer of all catchers a few years ago, but Dickey seems to have taken that honor from him in the last year or two. Rick Ferrell of the Red Sox is one of the best catchers in baseball, but oddly enough has polled few votes.

THERE IS KEEN competition in both leagues for the center field berth with Wally Berger of the Braves, Lefty O'Doul of Brooklyn and Freddy Lindstrom of the Pirates the leading candidates in the National league and Earl Averill of Cleveland, Ben Chapman of the Yankees and Fred Schulte of the Browns topping the American league voting.

The other positions are comparatively easy to fill with perhaps the exception of the third pitchers on each team. Warneke of the Cubs and Hubble of the Giants are a cinch for the first two pitching berths on the National league team. Red Lucas or St. Johnson of Cincinnati or Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals will get the other job.

Grove of the Athletics and Gomez of the Yankees are the American league's two best pitchers. Wesley Ferrell of Cleveland probably will get the other berth, but it may be a close contest with his young teammate, Oral Hildebrand, and General Crowder of Washington.

The hard part of the contest is to pick the opposing batting orders, and name the three pitchers (each pitcher is to work three innings), in the order in which they will be used.

MULLINS TRIMS POTTERY TEAM IN LOOP CLASH

Chinaware Outfit Puts Up Strong Battle,
But Loses, 1-2

The Mullins Foremen's club today was crowned undisputed champion of Salem's Class A softball league following a 4-2 victory over the Salem China company in an interesting, hard-fought duel at Centennial park field Tuesday.

Potters Put Up Fight
The Potters gave the Foremen a hard tussle but bowed when the champs connected for most of their seven hits at opportune moments, tallying one run in each of the first three frames, then connected for one more in the sixth.

It was Mullins' eighth consecutive victory of the current league round which closes this week.

Ralph Gregg, United Cigars pitcher, hurled one of the season's best games, allowing but one hit, as the Tobies crashed out a 5-1 victory over the last-place Golden Eagle.

Two Games Today
Two games are booked at the park today with the Deming and Hardwicks colliding at 5:30 while the Cigars oppose the Pottery at 6:30.

Health Officer Warns Swimmers
Dr. R. T. Holzbach, acting health commissioner today issued warnings to swimmers and laid down seven rules for safety:
Don't take chances.
Don't go swimming for at least an hour after eating; it may cause stomach cramp.
Don't swim alone.
Don't swim too far out.
Don't dive unless you are sure the water is deep enough.
Be careful in streams known to have deep holes and rocky fissures in their beds.

Yale to Big League
Turning his back on the campus of Old Eli to become a professional, Johnny Broca, 23-year-old collegian, will shortly make his debut with the New York Yankees as a pitcher in their big league roster. The only other respected big league pitcher is Danny McFadden, also of the Yankees.

Leetonia Legion Defeats Warren
The American Legion post of Leetonia is backing a strong baseball team this season and is playing a schedule of games with leading aggregations of the district both at home and on foreign fields.
The team gained an 8-3 victory over the Warren Grays Sunday.

American Max Meets—

MAX BAER

Disdaining all efforts at defense and concentrating his training workouts on the development of a swift-punching attack, Max Baer, the famed "Livermore Larriper", is confident that he'll hand Maxie Schmeling, former heavyweight champion of the world, a decisive beating when they collide in New York City Thursday night.

For the Larriper, about as confident and cocky as they make 'em, will have tremendous physical advantages over the German and his opponent is gradually changing and that Baer will enter the ring at odds no longer than 8 to 5 against him.

So far as is visible to the naked eye Baer is in great condition. The very anti-theater of the calm, methodical, scientific German, Baer is easy to hit and boasts of his ability to "take it". He is counting on nothing but his undoubted punching power and great strength to bring him victory.

In weight he will have an 18 pound advantage, is 112 inches tall, over 6 feet 4 inches, and has a reach five inches longer.

Although Schmeling is now the 2 to 1 favorite, experts figure that sentiment is gradually changing and that Baer will enter the ring at odds no longer than 8 to 5 against him.

Managers, Notice!
Managers of softball and hardball teams submitting summaries to The News for publication are requested to please write names of players legibly and hand score sheets in on the evening following the game or before 9 a. m. the next morning.
Sheets may be deposited in the mail slot in The News office entrance.

PLAYERS CLASH IN FIST FIGHT AT CINCI GAME

Derringer, Dean Collide
In Wild Tilt; Indians
Back In 5th Place

The stormy scenes of this year's "aggressive" baseball hitherto monopolized by the New York Yankees and Washington Senators, have reached the National league as an accompaniment to the St. Louis Cardinals' drive toward the top.

Some stiff resistance by the Cincinnati Reds, plus the "riding" of one player by a former teammate led the Cards into an embroilment yesterday that approached the best the Senator-Yankee scraps.

Derringer, Dean Clash
The actual fighting was confined to a brief flurry between Jerome (Dizzy) Dean of the Cards and Paul Derringer of the Reds during batting practice, but before the game was over disputed decisions led to the ejection of two men. Two pop bottles were tossed from the stands, one hitting Burgess Whitehead, Card star on the shoulder, and private police provided an escort from the park for the umpires.

The Cards won the game, 6-2, pounding out 16 hits while Bill Hallahan and Sylvester Johnson limited the Reds to four, and remained only five points behind the league leading New York Giants.

Derringer, traded by the Cards this spring, explained that Dean had been "riding the life" out of him and that the fight started when "Dizzy" averred he meant "every word" he had said about Derringer. The big Cincinnati pitcher then uncorked a right hand swing that may or may not have landed on Dean's eye, depending upon who tells the story.

Except for the election of George Watkins of St. Louis over a protest decision in the fifth, things were quiet until the ninth when Jewel Ems, Cincinnati's acting manager, was chased for another protest. Then the bottle throwing and noisy objections to the officiating began.

Giants Retain Lead
The Giants held their slim lead by battering the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-2 touching Owen Carroll for four runs in the second inning. The Pirates dropped their sixth decision in seven games bowing to the Cubs by a 5-3 score. The Phillies and Boston had an open date.

The Athletics climbed back into the first division with an 8-4 triumph over Washington.
Herb Pennock gave 11 hits but pitched a shutout and Babe Ruth took the major league home run lead with his 11th as the Yankees strengthened their hold on first place with a double victory over the Boston Red Sox, 4-0 and 8-4.

The White Sox hammered out another decision over the St. Louis Browns, 5-3, and Cleveland fell into fifth place when the Indians surrendered to "Schoolboy" Rowe and Detroit, 5-2.

Yesterday's STARS

Germany's Maxie Thursday

MAX SCHMELING

Once the heavyweight champion of the world but now just another pug trying to get along, Herr Max Schmeling of Germany ranks as a 2 to 1 favorite over Max Baer in their battle at Yankee stadium, New York City, tomorrow night.

It ought to be a great battle; Schmeling means business and insists that he'll be putting out the "right of his life". No more of the "slap and run" technique he used against Jack Sharkey when he lost the title last year, he says; a calm, scientific battler, he claims to be ready to hand the cocky Baer the worst beating he has ever received.

Max doesn't talk much about coming fights; when he does the words, spoken in a pleasing, broken manner, come hard and he quietly predicts victory for himself. Not that he's overly modest—Max will tell you any time you want to know how good he is—but he's not the talkative type his rival is. A quiet lad of 27 years, he is well liked; there are many Americans that will be cheering for him to win over the United States-born battler.

Most experts agree that the winner of this fight will be the heir apparent to the heavyweight crown, able to take the measure of either Jack Sharkey, titleholder, or Primo Carna, who tangle in a title fight on June 29 at Madison Square Garden. The winners of the two big extravaganzas may be matched for a real championship bout whether in September or mid-summer of 1934.

Common Pleas Entries
Two damage actions totaling $50,000 have been filed in common pleas court against Myra Conn, 734 St. Clair ave., East Liverpool, administratrix of the estate of Louis Conn, deceased, and Ross Conn.
Ernest Broomhall declares he was a passenger in an automobile owned by Conn, deceased, and driven by his son, Louis Conn, May 28, 1932, when the machine overturned on the Salineville-Lisbon road. He has sued for $25,000. Broomhall has also sued for $25,000 for his son, Ernest Broomhall, a minor, injured in the same accident.
A jury trial was waived in the case of the Unadilla Silo Co. against W. J. West and others, and a judgment has been entered against the defendants by Judge W. F. Lones for $225 and costs.
The report of the commissioners has been approved by the court in the partition action filed March 11, last, by Edwin Colfax Fowler against W. Stuart Fowler, Jr., and others. In this issue the plaintiff has elected to take property at the appraised value, and deed has been ordered by the court. The case has been continued.
On the ground of gross neglect of duty, Thomas Ronning has been granted a divorce from his wife, Louise C. Ronning, and upon payment of costs.
Debate on Will
A jury in common pleas court has determined that a paper declared to be the last will of the late Elveta Roebeker is not the last will. This was the issue fought out in the case of Maude L. Viers and others against Annie Baird, as administratrix. The verdict was signed by 11 of the jurors, and three days was occupied in trying the issue.
A judgment by default for $563.30 and costs in favor of the plaintiff has been entered by Judge W. F. Lones in the case of J. W. Yates against Homer Shinn and others.
In the partition action filed by J. Charles Boone against Leah B. Beardmore and others, there has been a trial to the court and a writ of partition ordered. Commissioners appointed in this issue are Fred D. Capel, Robert M. Atchison and Ed. F. Stratton.
Default judgment for $2,323.84 and costs has been entered in favor of the plaintiff in the case of the Eastern Foundry Co. against E. G. Whitacre.
The Ohio Edison Co. has executed a conveyance to the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, which instrument has just been filed for record here, of 30 parcels of land and other grants to secure a mortgage formerly given by the Penn-Ohio Power & Light Co. The instrument reveals that the Ohio Edison Co. is a consolidation of the former interest, the Northern Ohio Power & Light Co., Ohio Edison Co., the Akron Steam Heating Co., and the London Light & Power Co. Holdings in Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull and Ashtabula counties are referred to in the instrument recorded.

SARAZEN LOOMS AS FAVORITE IN NATIONAL OPEN

But Walter Hagen. Others
Also Conceded Chance
For Golf Crown

(By Associated Press)
GLENNVIEW, Ill., June 7.—Gene Sarazen today was a man of deep mystery, suspected and respected, by his 150 rivals for the national open golf championship as they swung their clubs in practice for the last time over the long expanses of the North Shore battle-ground.

Inclusive to such a surprising degree that he played but two nine-hole rounds in as many days over the championship course, before then retiring for the opening of the big show tomorrow, and had the entire field guessing.

Gene left the course with a pair of 38s, two over par, for his drills, announcing he was satisfied to save his shots for tomorrow, Friday and Saturday and escape the hot blasts that sent the mercury to a record 92 yesterday.

Guessing the winning total for the 72 hole drive over the 6,927 yard course, and trying to pick the winner were the chief pastimes of entrants and experts alike today. The consensus was about 292 for the championship score and any one of 15 golfers.

Sarazen, of course, was regarded as the man to beat. Many, however, couldn't see anybody but Walter Hagen.

Other leading contenders included Donald Smith, still trying after almost 23 years; Craig Wood, the blonde from Deal, N. J.; Paul Runyan, freshman of the Ryder cup team; George Von Elm, and Bobby Cruickshank, each of whom has seen his championship hopes exploded when they were the highest. Karloff Star of 'The Mummy'

Coming Thursday to State

ALL the mystery, intriguing beauty, splendor and spectacle of the days of the Egyptian pharaohs will come to the State theater with the appearance of "The Mummy" Thursday. It will play one day only.

Karloff Is Star

Karloff, noted creator of sinister screen roles and today acknowledged as filmdom's supreme make-up artist, has certainly achieved a new and startling masterpiece of this particular art with the mummy countenance.

Surpassing even the hideous "Frankenstein" in cleverness, the "mummy" make-up took the star eight tedious hours to don every day while this film was in progress.

It is interesting to note that details of the hardship an actor of this type has to endure for his public—for the more grotesque the outfit and facial make-up he wears, the more his theater audiences like him.

The transformation of Karloff to Im-ho-tep, the 3,700 year old mummy, was accomplished something as follows:

Yards of Cotton on Face

The face, of course, was the first consideration. It was dampened with water, and then completely covered with thin strips of cotton—even the eyelids were not spared this nerve-racking process. Collodion was then applied, and the mask touched up with spirit gum to hold it in place. Work was stopped at intervals so that a drying machine might be applied to set the wrinkles.

The next step was the pinning back of the ears. Make-up clay was used to give the star's head the terraced appearance of a mummy. Twenty-two different variations of make-up paint were then applied to the actor's now withered countenance. Swathed from head to foot in hundreds of yards of bandages which had first been acid rooted and passed through a warm oven, Karloff was ready to step on the set and submit to another eight hours of grueling work before the cameras.

Supporting Cast

His supporting cast in this fantastic story of the reincarnation of an Egyptian mummy includes Zita Johann, David Manners, Arthur Byron, Edward Van Sloan and Bramwell Fletcher, Karl Freund directing.

It is interesting to note that Karloff occupies the same dressing room on the Universal lot formerly used by another make-up master, the late Lon Chaney.

"Air Mail" concludes its run this evening as the main attraction at the State.

The story concerns the government mail fliers and the dangers they face in line of duty. It is the first dramatization of the little publicized men who win their way through rain, wind, sleet and snow to put through the mail. Adventure, romance, thrilling the film is brought out of the run of just another airplane film by a grand cast of players.

The cast includes Ralph Bellamy, Pat O'Brien, Gloria Stuart, Slim Summerville, Lillian Bond and Russell Hopton.

Shipments of Wool Heavier This Year

LISBON, June 7.—Shipments of wool from this county to the Ohio Wool Growers' Association co-operative warehouse at Wheeling, W. Va., this season will exceed the tonnage of last year, according to Wilford Hall, manager of the Farm Bureau Service department here.

Cars are now being loaded at Lisbon, Kensington and East Palestine. Last season 34,106 pounds of wool were sold through this channel, growers being advanced seven cents per pound at the time of delivery. Final sales netted from 12 to 14 cents a pound.
